Very Large Hostas

Everyone who comes to Pixie Forest gasps at some of the giants we have planted around the display garden. Their size commands your attention, so we thought we'd give you a list of those hostas that will take up lots of room, but make a huge impression. Many people refer to size by the size of the leaves, not the clump. We however, refer to the height of the clump since this is what most people really want to know when talking about a hostas size. These giants are at least 36 inches tall. They vary in width from 30 inches for the more uprights, to 8 feet across!

This list is first sorted by the center color of the leaf, then its margin, and finally by it's name. We thought it was much more important to give you colors together then names alphabetically because if you are looking on a list, the likelihood is you don't know the hostas name but are looking for a hosta to fill a great big spot in your garden.

Just remember these giants will need lots of room in your garden, but oh what a statement they make! They are great mixed in the perennial borders or the back of your hosta collection. Giant hostas can add an element of the tropics to any garden. Add some Tiki torches, put cute umbrellas in your guests drinks, Don Ho in the background and you have the perfect Luau setting.

Just as we love to have our little Fairy Gardens sprinkled around our garden, your taste may be more prehistoric... Add a dinosaur statue or two and transport your guests back millions of years while in your garden! Bet the kids would love it!

Enjoy,

Lu & Dan Nelson
